

EAST END HOME RANSACKED EARLY SUNDAY EVENING

Thieves Enter Home of W. T. Berry in Wood Street—Nothing of Great Value Taken But Entire House Searched.

Upon returning home from church Sunday evening Prof. W. T. Berry, principal of the Forest avenue school, found his front door unlocked and the blinds in his front windows all drawn. Mr. and Mrs. Berry immediately realized that their home had been visited during their absence and hastened to make an investigation.

Match receptacles on the mantle in the living room had been freshly filled on Sunday morning and when Mr. Berry went to get a match he found them empty. This confirmed him in the belief that his home had been entered and he then discovered the gas fire turned on full. It had been turned low when they left for church.

Investigating Mr. Berry found that the intruders had visited every room in his home on both floors and in one room on the second floor he found an apple which had been carried from the dining room. A supply of cooked food in the dining room was untouched but every room had been thoroughly ransacked. Only a few articles of jewelry and some silk socks were found to be missing.

The intruders had entered the home through a window from a side porch and had evidently left through the front door which they left unlocked.

It is thought by the police that the intruders were children who, knowing that Prof. and Mrs. Berry had gone to church, entered and drawing the blinds went through the entire house for valuables. No money was left in the house.

RED CROSS SEAL CAMPAIGN PROVES VERY SUCCESSFUL

Many Are Assisting Anti-Tuberculosis Work in State and Local Health Work By Purchase of Little Christmas Seals.

Tuberculosis is still the most dreaded disease. Life insurance statistics show that it is the most deadly. In the United States, 360 persons die each day from this disease while nine persons die every day in Kentucky from the same cause.

These figures are startling in the face of the fact that they are not as disheartening when it is known that they are being reduced each year as the result of the annual sale of Christmas seals, the proceeds of which go for fighting tuberculosis throughout the United States.

The annual sale of these seals started in Mason county on November 24th and will end on Christmas eve. The sales to date have been most encouraging according to those in charge of the campaign in this county which is being conducted by the Health League and it is predicted that this county will make a most satisfactory record by the time the last seal is sold on Christmas eve night.

Mrs. Minnie M. Thompson in the absence of Miss L. K. Browning from the city has taken charge of the Seal Sale and is conducting a spirited and effective campaign. The cooperation of every man, woman and child in Mason county is earnestly requested in order to make the sale a great success.

The small price of a penny each has made these little seals very popular and the yearly increased receipts from the sale of them is evidence of their growing popularity. They are being used extensively on letters and packages of all kinds and their cheerful greeting will carry a message of many a life saved before the joyous Yuletide season has come to a close.

GETTING THINGS IN READINESS FOR TREAT

Santa Claus' Visit at Court House Next Saturday Afternoon Will Be Great Event For Poor Kiddies.

Colonel "Billy" Stockton and his committee of local business men are very busy this week getting all plans ready for working out the big annual Christmas treat at the court house on next Saturday afternoon when Santa Claus will be on hand to distribute to the poor kiddies of the community all kinds of toys, candies, fruits, nuts, etc.

The committee of women named last week have received many names and special efforts will be made to have these children thus reported on hand at the big affair. Committees of women have been selected to distribute the Christmas treat at the court house at the lines of kiddies file by.

Arrangements have been made to have the Kentucky Cardinal Band on hand to make music and old Santa Claus, himself, has wired Colonel Stockton that he will spend the afternoon in Maysville helping the business men make the hearts of the poor children of the community glad.

It's not too late to make a contribution to this worthy cause.

IRISH LEADER SCORES TREATY AS POLITICAL

De Valera in Open Session of Dail Eireann Says Treaty is "Political Pence"—Ratification Is Delayed.

Dublin, Dec. 19. — The Anglo-Irish treaty was denounced as a "political pence" by President Eamonn De Valera and his supporters at the open session of the Dail Eireann today.

After a bitter session, at which there was denunciation by both sides, the Dail recessed until 3:30 p. m., when the debate will be resumed. De Valera, apparently a loser in his fight against the treaty, wore a serious look as he entered the Council hall today amid acclamation from the crowd which had gathered.

Then came Arthur Griffith and Michael Collins. They, the supposed victors, doffed their hats in response to the applause.

Immediately after the roll call De Valera announced he would submit alternative proposals to the treaty.

Griffith then moved the treaty be ratified.

"We have made this bargain," he said, "brought it back and now we will stand by it."

A fiery debate followed as to whether documents introduced at the secret session should be made public. De Valera objected to their introduction, holding all matters of the secret debate should remain secret.

Collins insistently demanded everything be made public.

The documents were believed to contain the alternative proposals of De Valera.

INTERESTING IS DENIAL FILED BY JAMES J. OWENS

Denials of Contestants in County Clerk's Contest Prove Very Interesting—All Charges Denied.

The answer of Contestant J. J. Owens in the pending contest over the office of County Clerk, to the counterclaim of Mr. A. M. January, Republican candidate, which was filed a few days ago and sworn to by Mr. Owens is quite interesting. It contains a general denial of the allegations in the counterclaim set out in Mr. January's counter-claim specifically.

Paragraph ten of the answer reads as follows: "For reply to paragraph twelve of contestee's pleading, filed herein, marked Washington A, contestant denies that A. F. Wood, Jr., J. Y. Bailey, or Mrs. J. Y. Bailey, or any of them, have been bona fide, continuous or permanent residents of the state of Ohio for more than two years next preceding the election, or at all."

Contestant denies that said parties were not residents, or qualified electors of Washington precinct A, at the time of said election. Contestant denies that said parties were improperly permitted to vote in said election, or that they, or either of them, voted for the contestant, J. J. Owens, or that the ballots of these parties, or either of them, were counted for contestant, or were illegal.

"Contestant has not sufficient knowledge or information to form a belief, and, therefore denies that Marshall Wood was a continuous or permanent resident of Kenton county, Kentucky, or such resident prior to the election in contest for more than two years, or at all. Contestant denies that said Marshall Wood was not a resident of Washington Precinct A, at the time of said election, and had been a resident of said precinct in the State of Kentucky for more than a year next preceding this election."

Contestant denies that the ballot, alleged as cast for him, was illegal, or should not have been counted for contestant or that it was counted."

OUR POLICY:

And likewise to earnestly and consistently oppose all things that are not for the good of the county as a whole.

ABOUT HORSE RACING

A petition is being circulated in this county to be presented to the next general assembly of the Kentucky Legislature, asking the abolishment of the pari-mutuels now used on Kentucky race tracks. A circular headed "An Address to the Men and Women of Kentucky on Race Track Gambling" is also being circulated.

No one is more opposed to gambling than is the editor of this paper. But will the abolishment of the pari-mutuels do this. It most absolutely will not. The Kentucky Jockey Club pays annually thousands of dollars taxes into the state treasury, all of which the state will lose should this proposed abolishment of the pari-mutuel occur, and still they will continue to "place" "money on the ponies." The sporting class will again turn to the bookmakers as before the adoption of the pari-mutuel, legalizing the "betting" on horse races, and giving the state a handsome sum in taxes, which all agree is very badly needed especially at this time. Again we repeat that if there was a chance for this move to stop race horse gambling we would be the last to fight this movement, but it will not and those who are so strongly advocating it know it.

The American people are a gambling class and they are going to "take" a chance one way or the other. Abolish the pari-mutuel and "bookmakers" will flourish; abolishing horse racing altogether will not stop it either. In our mind it is much better to patronize the pari-mutuel and pay the state than to play stud poker, or cast the galloping dominoes, put and take, or any other of the forms of gambling followed today by thousands who pay nothing into the treasury for taxes.

Horse racing in Kentucky must not be stopped. Kentucky is the garden spot of the world. And what has helped to make it so more than its pretty horses? Kings and counts have crossed the mighty deep to witness our horse races in the Blue Grass State. Abolish other things—anything—but please, Mr. Preachers, "let the ponies run." —Burkesville, Ky., News.

Sunday school attendance throughout the country has taken on quite a boom—Christmas is near and annual treats and Christmas trees will be held throughout the land this week. All schools are making plans for great celebrations.

COLLECTOR TELLS HOW INVENTORY SHOULD BE TAKEN

Collector Lucas Makes Official Statement on Inventory Under Revenue Law.

The following statement is issued by Collector of Internal Revenue Robert H. Lucas, district of Kentucky.

"Merchants, manufacturers and business men generally need experience no difficulty in taking their inventories for the year 1921 to conform with the new revenue act. The language of the Revenue Act of 1918 and the Revenue Act of 1921, (Sec. 203), relating to inventories are identical: 'That whenever in the opinion of the Commissioner the use of inventories is necessary in order clearly to determine the income of any taxpayer, inventories shall be taken by such taxpayer upon such basis as the Commissioner, with the approval of the Secretary, may prescribe as conforming to the best accounting practice in the trade or business and as most clearly reflecting the income.'

"Present Treasury regulations provide that inventories must be valued at either 'cost' or 'cost or market', whichever is lower. Taxpayers were permitted, regardless of their past practice, to adopt the 'cost or market' basis, whichever is lower. Thereafter, the regulations provide, changes can be made only after permission is obtained from the Commissioner of Internal Revenue.

"In the case of a merchant 'cost' means the invoice price less trade or other discounts, excepting strictly cash discounts approximating a fair rate of interest, which may be deducted or not at the option of the taxpayer, providing a consistent course is followed. To the net invoice price should be added the cost of transportation and other necessary charges incurred in acquiring possession of the goods.

"In the case of a manufacturer 'cost' means the cost of raw materials and supplies, expenditures for labor and indirect costs incident to production, including a reasonable proportion of management expenses, but not including any cost of selling or securing return on capital.

"Market means the current bid price prevailing at the date of the inventory for the particular merchandise. The burden of proof as to the correctness of the price rests upon the taxpayer in each case. Where no open market quotations are available, the taxpayer must use such evidence of a fair market price at the dates nearest the inventory as may be available, such as specific transactions or compensation paid for cancellation of contracts or purchase commitments. Where, because of abnormal conditions the taxpayer has regularly sold merchandise at prices lower than the market bid price, the inventory may be valued at such prices. The reasonableness of such prices will be determined by reference to the actual sales of the taxpayer for a reasonable period before and after the date of inventory. Prices which vary materially from the actual prices so ascertained will not be accepted as reflecting the market.

"The value of each item in the inventory may be measured by cost or market, whichever is lower. An entire stock may not be inventoried at cost and also at market price, and the lower of the two inventories used. Inventories on whatever basis taken will be subject to investigation by the Commissioner of Internal Revenue, and the taxpayer must satisfy the Commissioner of the correctness of the prices adopted. He must be prepared to show both the cost and the market price of each article included in the inventory.

"In the conduct of modern business, it is of the utmost importance that every business, large or small, whether corporation, partnership or individual, shall maintain an exact record of receipts and expenses. No special system of accounts is prescribed by the Bureau of Internal Revenue, but the books should show in detail inventories, purchases, sales, capital investments, depreciation, and similar items required in making up income tax returns."

OVER 200 SOLDIERS KILLED, SAYS WATSON.

Washington, Dec. 17. — Senator Watson, Democrat, of Georgia, announced today that he would insert in the record of the next meeting of the Senate committee investigating his charges that American soldiers were illegally killed in France, a letter charging "that more than 200 soldiers were illegally hanged or clubbed to death by officers in France, and never reported."

New York Letter

by Lucy Jeanne Price

New York. — Probably no more interesting dwelling house exists in New York than a four story brownstone in West 71st street just off Central Park. This ungainly old structure houses 19 of the smallest people in New York. They are all midge but as such must keep house, read the newspapers and act like full sized human beings. Fraulein Victoria Neider is the head of the establishment and chaperons the entire group while they are here keeping theatrical engagements. She explains their happiness in the fact that they are all unwed, and has distributed them over the house so as not to misplace any of them. The six members of what one of my friends calls the unfair sex occupy the second floor and 13 bachelors have the third and fourth. They are so tiny that three or four of them can sleep in an ordinary bed without crowding and 19 at the table at one time doesn't bother them in the least. Charlie Becker is the cook and the

35,000 Armenian Kiddies, American Trained, the Hope for Future Peace

Boy Scouts of Near East Relief at Alexandria, Egypt, where 15,000 youngsters are cared for.

The baseball diamond, the football gridiron, boy and girl scout organizations and other institutions of the American youth will play their part in the final peace in the Levant, according to Charles V. Vickrey, general secretary of the Near East Relief, who is now on a tour of inspection of the work being done by that organization in Transcaucasia.

"Behind the walls of American schools and orphanages, one finds the only tranquil spots in this whole troubled territory," he writes. Here, despite disorder, pestilence, and starvation, outside the gates, ambitious young Armenian boys and girls are making the best of the opportunities offered them by their American teachers. If only our work can be continued until these children reach maturity a new generation will arise to face the problems of the Near East with the benefit of their American training to help them. At present, however, we are confronted by the possibility of having to abandon them because of lack of funds. This will mean not only the wasting of what has already been accomplished but will also result in the death of the majority of these wards of American charity. Several hundred of them died during a brief period last spring when the interior stations in the Caucasus were cut off from American food. On the other hand, a continuation of the full relief program can not help but mean a better, more peaceful region in the future.

Approximately ninety thousand children in Anatolia, Cilicia, and Syria, besides the 35,000 in Transcaucasia, are receiving American training at present, according to Mr. Vickrey.

Up in the Columbia University district one finds queer employment arrangements. Fancy going into the rear of one of the restaurants close to the campus and observing a lank youth washing away an immense stack of dishes and hear him turn to his mate close by with this remark: "Do you think this world is merely an orderly phantasmagoria, generated by an Ego, and enfolding its successive scenes upon the background of an abyss of nothingness?" This would seem simple enough by above the hiss of the steam from the water faucet his mate answers. "But I heard a new definition today for a 'State of Consciousness.' Hey there, I'm out of soap." These and many others have two, three and four letters after their names. They may be scientists, journalists and certainly all of them are philosophers, else they could not carry on this way for the sake of an education.

Attention has been directed to the attitude of some of the French war brides in this country in their recent appeal to Marshal Foch. The impression prevails that many of them are homesick in their newly adopted land. But it remained for the Young Women's Christian Association to use its good offices to encourage them, to help banish their homesickness. Due to their acquaintance with the Y. W. C. A. in France and the warm personal relationships established where they were officially chaperoned by the Association on the trip across, in many cases, it was natural for them to turn to this association for guidance and help. French clubs, or French war bride clubs, have been formed in cities over the country, partly for sociability to make them feel more at home. Classes in infant care, including pre-natal care, have been formed and well attended. These French organizations are auxiliary to the main work of the association but reflect the spirit of helpfulness which identifies this organization. Instances are cited of girls who were quite despondent in their new environment but when impressed with the warmth and hospitality of the people with whom they came in contact through the efforts of this organization, have become more than content to remain among us.

Anybody who thinks that the new York father is too busy to get acquainted with his children has another guess coming. The latest companionship among fathers and children is in the morning. When father gets ready to go to his office, Johnny and Sister are put into their reefer and legging and together the trio goes schoolward bound. The traffic conditions and general rush and bustle of New York between 8 and 9 o'clock in the morning makes it unsafe for the youngster to go about alone and most fathers deposit their little ones at their schools on the way to their offices. In the districts where the very rich live this practice is followed more closely than anywhere else and one gets the impression that these poor neglected children of the rich at least see their Daddies in the morning.

During the week two immense bronze doors designed by several of our leading architects will be placed in position in the hall of Liberal Sciences at New York University. They are more than magnificent doors because in their design and concept are supposed to epitomize the spirit of Stanford White in relation to his contribution to the architecture of the present day. His son, Lawrence White, is to accept them in the memory of his father. It seems an excellent practice to perpetuate the memory of any distinguished person in terms of his work. It is a reminder of this same principle some years ago when his own compositions were played at Feginald de Koven's funeral. There was something fine in reminding the public that a tangible thing lived after the artist had died and so it is with these doors. They are practical, beautiful demonstrations of the science which Stanford White lived to perfect as nearly as this generation may know it. That is the important thing to remember about people.

UNCLE TED'S BED-TIME STORIES.

Confidence Restored — The Conference a Success.

"Well, I heard him say that and so it MUST be so." Jack was very emphatic in his belief that the conference on the limitation of armament in Washington was having a good effect on business. His chum, Freddie, called such statements "bunk," but, as usual, that did not budge Jack from his conviction that he was right.

"I'll just bet you kiddies are having your usual agreement to disagree," was Uncle Ted's comment on the scene of conflict.

"Nothing much," replied Jack, "except that Freddie won't admit the conference has accomplished anything and he won't believe that it has helped business. Can't you tell us something about it so we can all understand that side of it more?"

"Let us go back a little first," said Uncle Ted. "There is a word of ten letters that means more than hundreds of other words put together. That word is CONFIDENCE. You, Jack, and you, Ruth, and you, Freddie, all have CONFIDENCE in your fathers and mothers. If they tell you something you believe it without hesitating a moment because you have CONFIDENCE in them. I have CONFIDENCE in my business associates. If I didn't have it I couldn't do business. We must have CONFIDENCE in our country or else we fail to measure up as one hundred per cent. Americans."

"Wow you will talk, 'What has that to do with the conference?' Just this: Before this conference met in Washington an dating back to the beginning of the war, the people of the world had lost CONFIDENCE. This had a bad effect upon business everywhere. Business men have been empowered by the conditions confronting them when they attempted to transact commerce. The war left the rate of exchange of money in a muddled state. Shipping has been almost at a standstill, labor has been discontented, there has been a shortage of raw materials, and every one has felt that it would take years and years to get the business of the world back to where it was prior to the Great War."

"But the patient is rapidly improving, and the minute the great countries meeting in Washington announced that they had agreed to work out a plan to cut down naval expenses the patient sat right up in bed and shouted for joy. You see, kiddies, no one thought about this conference from the standpoint of improving business conditions, but it certainly is having that effect. We think our taxes are high. Perhaps they are, but the foreign countries have been buried under taxes, and this has not only brought a lack of confidence in business, but has pressed the people down to such an extent that they have felt that normal conditions were things of the past. Everywhere, now, run-down railroads, buildings, ships and factories are receiving attention. The minute the news flashed around the world that the powers in Washington had agreed to cut down navies people put on broad smiles and took hope, and CONFIDENCE returned, for they could see on the horizon the dawn of a day of lower taxes, more attention to the business of peace, and more money spent on the necessities of commerce."

"No less a man than Gov. W. P. G. Harding, of the Federal Reserve Board said in a recent speech in Washington that the work of the arms conference had already stabilized finance. He said: 'The notable advance in sterling exchange which began with the assembling of the conference is not a mere coincidence.'"

"Freddie and Ruth say that they have signed a treaty, too," said Jack. "A very important treaty has been formed, Jack, but, of course, it has to be accepted by three other nations, just as it must be ratified by our Senate before the United States really agrees to it. This treaty is known as the 'Four-Power' Pacific Treaty because four nations are concerned, namely, the United States, Great Britain, France, and Japan. This treaty, we all hope and feel, will preserve peace in the Pacific where these various countries have interests which have caused controversies in the past. Some have said that it is just like the dangerous Article X of the world club plan, but it is not. It is a brief and frank international document which binds the four powers to agree that if any question shall arise over the reions of the Pacific between any one of these four powers that can not be settled by ordinary diplomacy, they will join in a conference to which the whole matter 'will be referred for consideration and adjustment.'

"This agreement, according to the treaty as it was signed by representatives of these four countries, would stay in effect for ten years, and after that it would continue 'in force subject to the right of any of the high contracting parties to terminate it upon twelve months' notice.' When it does go into effect it will also bring to an end the so-called Anglo-Japanese alliance, an agreement between Great Britain and Japan, which was made in London on July 13, 1911.

"So, kiddies, we can honestly rejoice and say with M. Viviani, head of the French delegation, that 'The conference has fully and entirely succeeded,' and with President Harding when he said that the conference had succeeded beyond our fondest hopes."

HARDING WINS COUNTRY

DECLARES DR. S. D. FESS

His Ability for Final and Correct Decision Is Now Understood and Widely Appreciated.

Washington, D. C. — That President Harding has merited and won a greater measure of popular approval than any of his predecessors in the same length of time is the contention of Chairman Simeon D. Fess, of the National Committee. He says:

"The country, fully alive to the most unusual problems of readjustment, is applauding the efforts of the administration. It does not minimize the seriousness of the situation. Harding in less than nine months of the presidency has reached a level of general good will and approval not reached by any of his predecessors. His genius to command the maximum ability of the nation is well recognized and unreservedly approved by all classes. His ability for final and correct decision is now well understood and widely applauded. His well-known sympathy for the unfortunate, and his deep desire to forward such remedial measures as will meet with the approval of sound policy, his keen comprehension of economic law as it affects industrial problems, have marked him with general approval."

"No one better understood the necessity of international composure nor more fully sensed the wisdom of selecting a sound diplomat for this work. In these months we have seen our international relations, sorely interrupted by the war, rapidly cleared with honor to ourselves and justice to all concerned. The treatment of the Panama-Costa Rica dispute, the Yap episode, the Mesopotamia embroglio, the Mexican problem, and the Russian proposal has marked Mr. Hughes as among the greatest of our country's diplomats, past or present. This reflects credit upon the man responsible for Mr. Hughes and his Cabinet.

"While Congress was at work on re-adjustment to relieve unemployment, the President summoned to Washington the best talent on the subject, organized the machinery, and put it in motion to reduce this problem to the minimum. In the meantime peace negotiations were conducted to enable us to resume proper diplomatic relations and thereby insure the most rapid readjustment of abnormal conditions to a more normal basis."

"During these months the President was at work to complete the plan for a world conference in the interest of peace in the world. This conference has now been in session for about two weeks. Already such progress has been made as to thrill the entire civilized world. The President's was the commanding voice of a conscious civilization speaking for our 100,000,000 people demanding 'less of armament and more of war.' Mr. Hughes was the spokesman of the President's plan, and in 40 minutes of time he disclosed what appeared the most audacious program of limitation of armament ever conceived by a responsible head. During that 40 minutes while the Secretary of State, speaking for the American delegation, acting under the direction of the President of the United States, this nation grew more than it had ever grown in any 25 years of its history. It reached a level no one living could have believed he would see it reach."

"In my judgment the conference can not fail now. No nation would dare to throw itself athwart the open way of so great a cause for humanity. Already all the nations have shown a most favorable attitude toward the magnanimous proposal of our country on behalf of lifting the war burdens. These burdens for Army and Navy in appropriations in 1916 were about $250,000,000. In the present fiscal year they are about $747,000,000. Our problem is to save at least $400,000,000 on these items alone, a tangible result of the conference if it succeeds, as it will succeed."

Waiting doesn't pay. If you neglect kidney backache, urinary troubles often follow. Doan's Kidney Pills are for kidney backache, and for other kidney ills. Ask your neighbor.

Maysville citizens endorse them. Ben P. Fleming, country Constable, 228 Limestone street, Maysville, says: 'I have used Doan's Kidney Pills off and on for several years when I have needed them. I always get Doan's at Wood & Son's drug store. I have been greatly benefited by them. At times my kidneys get out of order and I suffer with a dull constant ache through the small of my back and the kidney secretions are irregular in passage. A box or so of Doan's have never failed to relieve the trouble in a short time.'

The above statement was given November 14, 1916, and on November 22, 1920, Mr. Fleming added: 'I am glad to renew the statement I gave for publication some years ago as the cure Doan's Kidney Pills made for me is still permanent. I confirm my former statement in every detail as it was all true.'

WEAK BLOOD IS A REAL BARRIER

Growing Children Often Need Gude's Pepto-Mangan.

Some children grow too quickly—it every package.—Advertisement.

The blood becomes overtaken by too rapid growth; and poisons from the system take the place of strengthening red corpuscles in the blood. Red corpuscles are those little red particles that swim in blood and give it its color. Gradually that child loses interest in its play.

Poor blood needs the building that the iron in Gude's Pepto-Mangan gives to weakened blood. Gude's Pepto-Mangan enriches the blood by increasing the number of red corpuscles, and restores the blood by driving out the poisons. When the revived blood gets to work, the appetite becomes what a growing child's should be. Your druggist had Gude's Pepto-Mangan in liquid or tablet form. The name "Gude's Pepto-Mangan" is on every package.—Advertisement.

The good attendance at practically all Sunday schools is encouraging. The increases are not altogether attributable to the Christmas season although a feeling of expectancy can be seen on the faces, especially of the little folks. However, there are a whole lot of the bigger folks who are tickled to death on the appearance of Santa Claus. About all the school will have their Christmas meetings the last days of the week, most of them on Christmas eve — Saturday night.

The Sunday school and choir of the Third Street M. E. church are putting the finishing touches on their big cantata to be given next Sunday evening. There will be but two more rehearsals — the choir on Wednesday at 7 p. m. and the choir and Sunday school on Friday evening at 7:30 at which time all platform arrangements, electrical displays and other paraphernalia will be in place. "The Tree of Promise" promises indeed to be the best program of the kind yet attempted by this school. "The White Gifts for the King" feature will be introduced at this service. Plan to see and hear this cantata.

GRIEF FOR CHILD CAUSED FATHER'S DEATH

Jesse William Vaught, 33, railroad blacksmith, employed at Sharonville, died Sunday at his home in Cincinnati, of toxemia, after he had expressed the wish to join his three-and-a-half-year-old daughter, who passed away last Sunday. ## MAKER OF WALL STREET BOMB NOW IN AMERICA

Blacksmith Who Manufactured Destructive Bomb Fled to Moscow But has Returned to America.

Warsaw, Dec. 19. — Sylvester Cosgrove, the American Department of Justice Agent, has sent a cable dispatch to Washington giving the name of a blacksmith who Wolfe Lindenfeld, also known as William Linde, charges manufactured the bomb and engineered the details of the explosion in Wall street in 1920 and received the money for the job at 100 West Fortieth street, New York City. The blacksmith is supposed to be in the United States at the present time.

The blacksmith whose name has been sent to Washington came to America during the summer and met Lindenfeld, according to Paul Altendorf, who trailed Lindenfeld before his arrest. Altendorf said Lindenfeld made a statement to him that the blacksmith accompanied him to Moscow last August, but the blacksmith and his wife returned to America several weeks ago.

The blacksmith's wife, according to the statement, watched J. P. Morgan's movements from an adjacent window some time prior to the explosion.
